Civil Rights
Bill Heads
For Showdown

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate today headed for a showdown on the opening battle over the civil rights bill.
Supporters said publicly and southern opponents conceded privately that the House-passed bill would result in keeping the bill out of the hands of the Senate Judiciary Committee where a similar bill has been bottled up for months.
A civil rights coalition headed by Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland and Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) resorted to a seldom-used Senate rule to try to put the bill directly on the Senate calendar.
Southerners vowed to fight the move but were expected to put off any filibuster until the measure actually comes up for debate some time next month.
However, Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-S.C.) said he was ready to talk now "for days and weeks." He also threatened to try to delay the measure by insisting that the House bill be read word for word on the second reading instead of by title as ordinarily done.

Good Evening!

Uneasy snoozing during the night.
Not the conscience; the weather. Too cool.
Eight straight days with mere between 90 and 100 and ladies and gents we've had it. These pleasant zephyrs positively invigorating after more than a week of degeneration and dehydration.
Now you can sing about these rare June days. But you know, we're beginning to run out of 'em.
Well, we see where President Ike presents Jap Prime Minister Kishi a brand new set of golf sticks and then goes 18 holes with him at Burning Tree.
Maybe an indelicate question. But could that have been customer golf?
And a legislative investigating committee charges there was "political pull" used on the State Pardons Board in the David Darcy death sentence commutation case.
Has anybody really had any doubt about it? It didn't take a legislative inquiry to alert the public about what's happening in Harrisburg.
Our poor, faltering Phils. We're suffering from them.
Lowly Cubs clobber them twice yesterday, they slip to fifth place in the league, and can't seem to beat anybody anymore. About the only consolation is in the fact that the league standings are beginning to look a bit more realistic and sensible.
The old gent was telling his young girl friend of the difficulty he was having trying to find a gift for her.
"Oh," she chattered, "I think the nicest gift is always something you've made yourself—like money."

Wonder if dad knows what mother and the kids are already planning for his vacation?
About the only safe thing you can do behind a guy's back is to pat it.
Go easy with the driving.

Washington Runaways Insist
Marriage Story Is Truth

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. — UP — Sixteen-year-old Christina Wennerstrom, missing daughter of a Swedish diplomat, and an 18-year-old congressional page boy, were arrested here today for speeding, and insisted they were married in Charlestown, W. Va., last June 1.
Authorities said Christina and Huw Williams, told them they were on their way back from a honeymoon in Canada. They were picked up in Allenwood, about 15 miles south of here.
In Washington, a Swedish Embassy spokesman said the girl's mother, Mrs. Stig Wennerstrom, talked to her daughter by telephone and was told the two were

House Votes
Appropriation
For Deepening

A move to raise from $9,000,000 to $16,500,000 the allocation for work on the deep Delaware River channel failed in the House of Representatives yesterday.
The $9,000,000 allocation, requested in President Eisenhower's budget message to Congress, was included in an $841,000,000 public works bill passed by voice in the House. The bill now goes to the Senate.
Pennsylvania and New Jersey congressmen, who favored a $16,500,000 appropriation, to move full-speed-ahead on the project, held a caucus before the vote and decided not to offer an amendment to increase it.
The $16,500,000 had been recommended by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers for the project. It was supported by business and labor organizations of Lower Bucks County and the Delaware Valley.
The Army Engineers began dredging the channel last November, on a budget allotted by Congress last year.
Deep channel advocates maintain that the $9,000,000 allotment will permit a channel only 35 feet deep upstream past the Fairless Works of U. S. Steel Corp. to Trenton, N. J. Recommended by the Engineers and endorsed by business and labor organizations and local leaders is a channel 40 feet deep to the Fairless Works, then 35 feet deep to Trenton.

Frick Calls
Minor Heads

WASHINGTON UP — Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick disclosed today he has called a special meeting of minor league presidents to consider expanding the major leagues.
He also said the meeting would take up the question of reclassifying some minor league teams to higher status.
Frick did not say how many teams he thought might be added to the big leagues.
Nor did he hint at what cities might get major league teams. There are now eight teams in each of the American and National Leagues.
Frick made the disclosure in testimony to a House judiciary subcommittee that is studying the anti-trust law exemption of organized baseball.
Frick has said previously that there will be a third major league in the foreseeable future.

Levittown Streets
To Get Clean Sweep

Middletown Township will make a "clean sweep" of Levittown streets Monday and Tuesday.
Angus T. Johnson, township manager, said the township will rent Morrisville's new street sweeper to clean up debris in Levittown. Only those streets which have been turned over to the township will be swept, Johnson said. This is slightly more than 19 miles of roadway, he said.
The manager asked residents to park their cars in their driveways these two days so all the curb line could be cleaned.

UN Blasts
Soviet Reds
For Revolt

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP) — A United Nations special committee reported today that last year's Hungarian revolution was a spontaneous nationwide uprising crushed by the brutal intervention of Russian troops without invitation.
It was the most sweeping indictment of Soviet Communism ever issued by the United Nations.
A five-man committee appointed last January to conduct a full and objective investigation of the revolt announced its findings in a 150,000 word report. Its conclusions were based on evidence taken from 111 witnesses—some of them still loyal to the Communist Party—in hearings held here and in Vienna, London, Rome and Geneva.
Keith C. O. Shann, Australian ambassador to The Philippines, who prepared the report, said the revolution was "not an anti-Soviet revolution as such" and was not fomented by outside agencies, as, for example, Radio Free Europe.
The three main conclusions of the committee, comprising also representatives of Denmark, Ceylon, Tunisia and Uruguay, were these, Shann said:
1. There was, in fact, intervention by force by the Soviet Union to crush the uprising and to overthrow "a legal and popularly-supported government."
2. The revolt was "a spontaneous national uprising not assisted from outside and not a counter-revolution to restore an old government."
3. The present government of Premier Janos Kadar "did not at the time of its installation and does not now have popular support."

U.S. Reveals New Plan On Disarmament

LONDON (UP)—Harold E. Stassen formally unveils a new U.S. disarmament plan today. The way toward suspension of nuclear tests was smoothed by completion of Britain's first hydrogen bomb test series.

The five-nation U.N. disarmament subcommittee was meeting this afternoon in hopes of agreeing on a "first small step" that would lead to eventual worldwide disarmament and lessen the threat of war.

Delegates predicted the first goal would be an end to nuclear tests. President Eisenhower endorsed this yesterday and successful conclusion of Britain's Christmas Island H-bomb tests erased many British objections.

Britain announced Wednesday night it had exploded its third and last H-bomb and the ministry of supply said "this third explosion completes this series of tests." There were unconfirmed reports the blast was the biggest yet of the series.

Until the announcement Britain was reported unwilling to suspend its tests; it was still unwilling to free the production of fissionable materials since it is a newly arrived nuclear power and does not have the big stocks built up by the United States and presumably Russia.

A Washington dispatch quoted Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson as saying the Senate will send representatives to the London talks if Eisenhower requests it. Johnson indicated any such delegates should have a limited role which would not invade the functions of the executive branch.

falling to 70 at midnight and to a low of 64 by 5 a.m. today. A high of 85 is expected today.

Summer is expected to come in tomorrow much the same as today, clear, cool, and not very humid.

The weather pattern will stay clear and warm slightly towards the weekend. Temperatures aren't expected to pass 90. Dry weather is forecast through Sunday.

A cool air mass cracked the eastern heat wave with death-dealing violence Wednesday night, but there was no relief in sight for the sizzling West Coast.

The cooler air rode into the East on the heels of a widespread storm front that claimed at least five lives, including two National Guardsmen killed by lightning on bivouac at Fort Bragg, N.C.

In the Far West, firemen and volunteers battled hundreds of brush fires in the mountains surrounding Los Angeles yesterday as the mercury soared to 95.

In the plains states, flood waters began receding slowly, leaving behind a soggy trail of damage estimated at 17 million dollars in southwestern Minnesota alone.

The cooler air in the East triggered flooding rains, violent winds and severe electrical storms.

Darcy Case

In 1956 that such influences swayed the board in some cases.

Republicans tried to establish that Matthew McCloskey, prominent state Democrat and Philadelphia contractor, used "undue influence" to get Darcy's sentence commuted.

The 32-page report presented a long list of recommendations for strengthening the structure of the board and its procedures, including a proposed change in membership.

A report that the George Taylor school, Croydon, was on fire this morning turned out to be a false alarm.

The caller apparently mistook smoke from burning debris 100 yards behind the building for a school fire.

A new addition is being constructed on the building. Croydon fire company, with neighboring units, was called to the scene.

The fire that caused the smoke was in a pit under the control of construction workers, who were burning brush cleared from the woods for construction purposes.

Hoffa Seeks Trial Delay In Appeals Court

WASHINGTON (UP)—Teamster Union Vice President James R. Hoffa took to the U.S. Court of Appeals today his attempt to force a delay in his bribery trial already in progress in a lower court.

Hoffa's attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, said the appeals court would be asked to intervene with an order directing District Judge Burnita S. Matthews to postpone proceedings against the union official in his court.

Matthews denied Williams' motion for a delay yesterday and Hoffa's trial opened as scheduled.

Williams was seeking a postponement on grounds that he had not had time to adequately prepare Hoffa's defense and that Hoffa cannot presently get a fair trial here because of extensive publicity given to his arrest and the Senate investigation into Teamster Union corruption.

representatives of the "Voice" said it would be particularly significant in Germany because of the acute housing shortage currently being experienced.

Mr. Kohl and Mr. Imbach spent two days and two nights talking with and interviewing community leaders, teachers, doctors, recreational leaders, school administrators, public officials, and lay citizens.

They polished off their stint with a two-hour visit to the Courier and Times plant with editor and mechanical employees, incorporating into the documentary the role this newspaper has played on the Levittown and Lower Bucks scene.

"The growth, service, and public acceptance of this newspaper is something beyond anything we have ever seen anywhere in the world," the Messrs. Kohl and Imbach agreed.

Culp, president of Kiwanis International; Carlos Romulo, Philippine ambassador to the U.S.; James Duncan, past president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce; and Dr. Edward Elson, pastor of the National Presbyterian Church, Washington.

Probers Put Heat On Bakers' Chief

WASHINGTON (UP) Senate investigators hoped to end their investigation of the Bakery Workers Union today by turning the heat on President James G. Cross about his reported loans from an employer.

Cross was ordered back to the stand this afternoon after as much as telling the Labor Rackets Committee Wednesday it had no business asking what "personal services" he received from an attractive brunette who had a habit of showing up at his hotel at union conventions across the country.

He said her name was Mrs. Kay Lower, that she was a secret organizer for the union in Los Angeles and that she was paid for her services to the union.

Has Police Record Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said Mrs. Lower, also known as Mrs. Elsie K. Thorpe, had a record of arrests in Los Angeles for offering prostitution and living in a house of ill fame.

When Cross was asked if Mrs. Lower rendered any "personal service or accommodation" to him apart from union business, he told the committee the question was "not pertinent" to its investigation of labor racketeering.

The committee did not challenge this stand, which was apparently based on a Supreme Court ruling last Monday that congressional committees cannot engage in "exposure for exposure's sake" but must have a clear purpose for their questions.

Claims Expenses Honest The committee charged that Cross, who was paid $17,500 last year, also drew more than $39,000 in expenses, much of it for "entertainment" not otherwise accounted for. Cross said all the money was honestly spent.

The committee planned to question Cross further about charges that he borrowed a total of $106,000 since 1948 from Martin Philipson Sr. of Zion, Ill., and his brother Herbert Philipson—and that the union tried to maintain a sub-standard contract this year for 125 of its members who work for Zion Industries Inc., Philipson's bakery and candy factory.

Kennedy said some of the loans paid for a home for Cross in Washington and another in Palm Beach, Fla.

16 Men Plead Guilty To Statutory Rape CUMBERLAND, Md., June 19 (UP)—Sixteen Allegany County men, pleaded guilty today to statutory rape charges involving two 12-year-old Mt. Savage girls today and nine of the defendants were sentenced to terms of not more than a year.

The remaining defendants were given suspended sentences because they had no previous record of serious offenses. Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris directed that one of the defendants serve his term in the House of Correction and the others in the Maryland Reformatory for Males.

Seven of the defendants are married and three have children. The offenses occurred between last December and April.

Atomic Blast Damages Eyes Of Two Women LAS VEGAS, Nev. UP — Two women suffered eye damage while watching Tuesday's atomic blast from a point 45 miles distant, the Atomic Energy Commission disclosed yesterday.

Judith Burke and Valerie Graves, employees of an electrical and engineering company, were among six persons who witnessed the blast from Hermit Mountain, an unrestricted area.

The AEC said all six persons had special protective goggles but Miss Burke failed to get hers on in time and Miss Graves chose to wear sunglasses instead.

They did not report the incident until almost 18 hours after the blast. AEC physicians who examined them yesterday reported they found no permanent impairment. The women said the sensation was similar to that caused by looking into the sun.

Penndel Man Reports Tent, 4 Cots Stolen John Burt of 422 Durham Road, Penndel, reported to State Police today that a house tent, valued at $250 and four cots were stolen out of his backyard during the night.

Burt has offered a reward for information leading to the recovery of the stolen property.

40 Benches And Tables Being Placed

You'll be able to hold your Fourth of July picnic at the new Bucks County Park at Silver Lake, if the progress of the County Park Board and maintenance crew continues at its present rate.

About ten of 40 benches which will surround the lake are in place on the west, or Bristol Township, shore, while the rest will soon be delivered. Also, on both the township and Bristol Borough sides, will be installed 36 picnic tables and a dozen fire places.

Cleaning Up

The county crew under Maintenance Superintendent Ben Stockett recently regraded the road on the township side of the lake, which will receive several applications of calcium to keep the dust down. The crew has several times cut down the grass and weeds along the lake, and trees will be planted in the fall.

Meanwhile, scores of swimmers have taken to the lake to beat the heat this week, despite recurring annual reports of pollution. The County Health Department is engaged in a study to determine the extent of pollution and possible remedies.

State Act

Formerly the property of the State Fish Commission, the lake was transferred to Bucks County under an act of the Legislature signed last month by Gov. George M. Leader. Officials of Bristol Borough and Township joined with the Park Board to create the park after it was urged in editorial comment in the Bristol Courier and Levittown Times.

The Championship Rodeo which is the first in Bucks County will have cowboys from all over the United States, competing for over $4,000 in prizes and points.

Between the five major events featured will be World's Champion roper, Barbara Autry, well known Joe Phillips with his gun and dog acts. Chief White Cloud and his troupe performing their tribal dances. Rodeo clowns, Western music, and other acts.

After the LPRA passed its ruling against the use of flotation gear (which means anything that artificially keeps one afloat in the water) a large number of Levittowners have raised the question of using non-inflatable kapok-type life jackets.

As originally passed, a flat ban was issued on this type of thing, too, but the Board of LPRA, we understand, will reopen the question of whether or not this type of gear should be made an exception to the rule. A decision should be forthcoming shortly.

The Tullytown tennis courts are picking up support we were told this morning by a very interested Dirk Lamont. . . it seems that individuals in the community have offered the use of equipment and personal "elbow grease" to help reduce the final cost of them. The council is cogitating on Hot tip for the gals: Friday night at 8:30 p.m., the "Queen of the Rodeo" semi-finals will be held at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church Hall. Girls over 18 years of age who'd like to try for the title and accompanying thrill of being escorted all day by "Marshall Matt Dillon" may still enter by applying at 8 p.m., at the Hall.

The Queen will ride in by stagecoach with James Arness and remain at his side during the Bucks County Championship Rodeo, June 29 to 30 at Langhorne Speedway.

Good Rotarians Get Together

Above are shown Gene Nichols, retiring president of the Bristol Rotary club; Emil Metzger, patriarch of the club and past president, Mrs. Nichols, and James Keegan, newly elected president who assumes office the first Thursday in July.

Officers and directors of the club were guests of President and Mrs. Nichols for dinner last evening at their home on Durham Road. Newly elected directors are James Mitchell, Devon Smith, and Harry Rohrbach.

Wedding Is On

Parents Of Fiance Blasted By Girl

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UP)—Mary Louise Werner last night denied charges made by the parents of her fiance and said "we're going to go ahead and marry regardless" or a $500,000 alienation suit brought against her parents.

The parents of Leland W. T. Cummings Jr., charged that the Arnold J. Werners lured their son away from his home and Roman Catholic religion with money and promises of a $25,000-a-year position.

Cummings and Miss Werner, both 21, met while he was a student at Harvard University and she was attending Vassar College. They are to be married at St. Matthew's Lutheran Church here June 29.

The youth's parents charged that Miss Werner's father, who heads the Wagner Iron Works in Milwaukee, had conspired to deprive them of their son's services by paying his tuition at school, furnishing him a $75 monthly allowance, the use of a car, and the promise of a well-paying job.

"Ridiculous," said Miss Werner in reply to charges that young Cummings had been "brainwashed."

"None of the charges or claims made by my fiance's parents during the past two days are true. The only thing you can call it is a lie," she said.

In Wyncote, Pa., Mrs. Leland W. T. Cummings Sr., said she would never approve of her wealthy, future daughter-in-law.

"She has shot holes through our hearts," said Mrs. Cummings.

'Airy' Letters Cheer Girl

NEW YORK (UP)—A 9-year-old apartment-dwelling girl who "airmailed" a number of undressed pen-pal letters out a fifth-floor window has received several answers—one from Rangoon, Burma.

Home with a cold last April 24, Janet Capron wrote several letters, addressed only to "Dear Somebody," asking that the recipients answer them. She then tossed the letters out the window.

The first reply came from a soldier at Fort Sill, Okla. He said he knew what it was like not to receive letters, then gave some friendly advice to little Miss Capron.

The letter from Rangoon began:

"As I was sitting down under a palm tree in front of my home at sundown one evening, your letter came blowing into my lap—driven by the first monsoon winds."

"Are you pretty? How old are you?" asked the writer, who said he did not read English well and that the letter was being written for him by an uncle.

It turned out, however, that the post office had aided Janet and the law of gravitation in the dispatch of the letters to Fort Sill and Rangoon. Not to mention a man named David B. Magee.

Magee, a neighbor of the Caprons, found several of the letters on the ground. To cheer the child, he mailed them to a soldier brother at Fort Sill and to another brother with the U.S. Information Agency in Burma. He asked that they reply or pass the letter along to someone who would.

Sewer Lines Target Date Set In Boro

The end of the year has been set as a target date by the Morrisville Municipal Authority for getting all borough homes tied into the sewer line.

The Authority yesterday issued a resolution calling for payment of sewer rental regardless of whether homes are tied into the line or not.

A. O. Redland, chairman of the Authority, said, "We are interested in getting people tied into the line and we feel this is as good a way as any."

Boro Ordinance

Mr. Redland said it is a borough ordinance that every home owner must be tied into the line and it will be a borough obligation to see that the law is enforced.

According to the Authority resolution rentals will be charged following a 90-day waiting period. When the 90-day waiting period is expired and homes are still not tied into the line, the rental will begin immediately and the Authority will begin installation of the line on its own accord.

Individual Cases

"We are not making it a hard and fast rule. We will certainly consider individual cases of hardship in not installing the lines. These cases will be dealt with separately," he said.

Mr. Redland stated that the Authority has been "quite pleased" with the reception to the sewer program and thankful for the public cooperation.

The first homes tied in with the line were completed in the early part of the last year.

"We are hopeful we can complete the entire borough by late this year," he said.

In other Authority business, Mr. Redland reported the borough's water well is holding up exceptionally well despite the hot weather. It has been pumping about 900 gallons a minute.

"We're certain the summer water supply will be adequate," he said.

Lower Makefield Chief Keeps Cool Own Way

Lower Makefield Police Chief Robert Waterson has his own system for keeping cool during the days of the current heat spell.

His favorite recipe is "lots of cold watermelon, heavily salted."

The chief said he has been using this system in the hot weather for a long time and it never fails to keep him cool.

Yardley Street Fair Totals Over $1300

Over $1,300 was raised during the Yardley Street Fair last week, Don Outcalt, Yardley Makefield Lions Club, sponsors of the event, announced today.

The amount is about equal to the sum collected during the fair last year.

Proceeds from the fair will go to the Yardley Community Center. The community center board will meet next week to decide how to spend the money.

Recreation Program Signing Tomorrow

Applicants for the Yardley-Lower Makefield recreation program for this summer will be gistered tomorrow from 10 a.m. to noon.

Applicants may register at the Lower Makefield School bus terminal and the Yardley Community Center.

Street Jobs To Get Started

Morrisville's street resurfacing program can start rolling again. The program was delayed until the borough and the sewer contractors could agree on who was to repay for repairing broken streets.

Under the sewer installation agreement, streets were to be restored to the condition they were in before broken up to install the lines.

A meeting this week of the sewer contractors and borough officials resulted in agreement as to who was to pay for repairing the streets before the resurfacing was done by the borough.

Bob Steward, borough secretary, said the work will be done by the borough with the sewer contractors paying their share.

Country Club Liquor Sales?

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader today considered legislation to create a special "country club" liquor license without quota restrictions.

The measure cleared the House Tuesday, 109-76, without debate. It would permit unrestricted issuance of club licenses to establishments where the licensing privilege "will be clearly incidental to the function and operation of the club."

The bill said a "major flaw" in present quota provisions was that they tended to discriminate against certain racial groups in that they lacked the opportunity to become members of existing country clubs and are restricted in the opportunity to establish clubs of their own within the quota.

The bill was defeated in the House last Friday, 62-109, in its initial appearance. However, the measure was salvaged, apparently on the insistence of Dr. Joseph O. Randall, Middletown, who has pressed for passage of the legislation. Randall operates a predominantly Negro country club at Sterretts Gap, Perry County, which has been unable to secure a liquor license.

The new 20-room school will be located in the central part of the borough in the Highland Park section.

Final approval for the proposed new high school was also granted by the board this week subject to final acceptance from Harrisburg.

The junior-senior high school will be built adjacent to the location of the new elementary school.
